

Pro-Abortionists Screaming, “Hail Satan” in TX Capitol

Many churches have been persuaded they shouldn't be involved in politics because it is “secular” and they are “spiritual.” But is that true?

Yesterday afternoon, this video was taken from inside the Texas State Capitol where pro-abortion activists screamed “Hail Satan” and “God is dead” to drown out pro-lifers who were peacefully singing Amazing Grace.

The pro-life bill just passed out of the House Committee. And it is now headed to the full floor for a vote.

This is clearly spiritual warfare. Christians must realize that God is involved in all areas of our lives, including government. If we ignore that “sphere” are we not being negligent in our practice of our holistic faith?

After watching this video, I suggest we think again. As you watch people associated with the pro-life movement sing “Amazing Grace,” their opponents associated with the pro-abortionist movement chant, “God is Dead.” If that isn't enough, right at the end of the attached video a lady goes up to the camera exclaiming, “Hail Satan, Hail Satan...aah!”

Spiritual warfare is real, and Satan's forces are attacking on all fronts – personal, family, religious, and governmental.

Should Christians not defend the same?

Top Story on Drudge Includes Bob

“What Obama wants to do is come into Texas and say, look at how great everything is and to take credit for something that really isn’t his. And without saying it, he’s saying you’ve got this Sen. Ted Cruz who wants to be the fly in the ointment. Tell him to fall in line,” The Morning News quoted Bob Vander Plaats, president of the The Family Leader.
