

VIDEO: A conversation with U.S. Secretary of State Pompeo

At a private dinner following the 2020 FAMiLY Leadership Summit on Friday, July 17, U.S. Secretary of State Michael R. Pompeo sat down for an interview with The FAMiLY Leader President and CEO Bob Vander Plaats.

The intimate setting opened up opportunities to discuss faith, family, and a behind-the-scenes look at Pompeo's time as director of the CIA, Secretary of State, and even life inside the Oval Office.

Attendance at the Summit was limited by COVID-19 capacity restrictions, so available tickets for the event sold out weeks beforehand. Nonetheless, The FAMiLY Leader also made livestream access available so hundreds more from across the country could join the Summit online.

“It was so encouraging to see the passion and the enthusiasm of so many at the Summit and so many watching online,” said Bob Vander Plaats, president and CEO of The FAMiLY Leader. “TFL is blessed to bring together everyday Americans committed to seeing meaningful and positive change in America. Together our heart beats for a revived America that honors God and blesses people, and on Friday, we all left the Summit with new life and a new spring in our step to see that revival come.”
