

Video: Religious freedom isn't 'discrimination'

As we've seen in Indiana, Arkansas, and even right here in Iowa, when men and women stand for religious liberty, progressives are quick to cry, "Discrimination!"

But Iowa State Rep. Steven Holt, R-Denison, isn't willing to surrender the debate to a buzzword.

Before the Iowa House on April 13, Holt explained with unusual clarity the issue isn't about discrimination, but about participation – and whether the law and the courts should force citizens to participate in activities that violate their conscience.

This is must-watch video from the floor of the Iowa House:

Duration ~ 7:37

Iowa Rep Holt on Religious Liberty from The FAMIly LEADER on Vimeo.

Sign up for The FAMIly LEADER's email blasts, so we can keep you informed of more stories relevant to your life, like this one!

Also consider investing in the defense of your own religious liberty by making a donation to The FAMIly LEADER today.